

Power Your AI Agents with Sourcecrub

AI agents are quickly transforming the way dealmakers interact with and use data. They unify information from across sources, uncover proprietary insights, and automate key processes so teams can make smarter decisions and work more efficiently. But AI agent outputs are only as good as the inputs they have to work with.

Maximize the value of your AI agents and give your team a distinct competitive advantage by integrating Sourcecrub's industry-leading private company dataset.

What Makes Sourcecrub Mission Critical

Sourcecrub's unique sources-first approach and Expert-in-the-Loop machine learning processes provide private market dealmakers with a richly detailed, inter-connected and proven data set for AI-driven workflows:

- Robust private company profiles and sources: Sourcecrub continuously discovers, collects, and weaves together private company data from 290,000+ sources. The platform provides unmatched breadth and depth for over 16 million companies, their categories, growth intent, contact details, conference attendance, and more – along with all the lists and sources where these companies can be found.
- Trustworthy, verified data: Sourcecrub was purpose-built by dealmakers for dealmakers, with a curated, reliable dataset dating back to 2016. The team leverages a proprietary, Expert-in-the-Loop machine learning process to deliver accurate, fresh, and inter-connected data that drives reliable, actionable results.
- Structured and data ingestion ready: Sourcecrub data is modular and ready to power GPTs, copilots, and AI workflows through our Data Connect Cloud, MCP Servers, and API endpoints. Get easy access to our always growing and up-to-date dataset, and combine it with other key sources, tailor it to your firm's unique taxonomy, generate proprietary algorithms, and more.
